

Welcome to Nour Enayeh, new assistant director

Wednesday, April 13, 2022 - The Board of Directors of RésoSanté Colombie-Britannique (C.-B.) is proud to announce the arrival of Nour Enayeh in a leadership role within the organization as Assistant Director of RésoSanté C.-B.

Nour Enayeh has been very involved in the francophone community for many years and is known for her strong sense of ethics and leadership. She will bring her expertise in team and project management.

"I am proud to be part of this team and to be able to help RésoSanté C.-B. improve access to health care in French for Francophones in British Columbia." Nour Enayeh

"I am delighted to welcome Nour Enayeh to RésoSanté C.-B. Her knowledge of the community and her experience will be an undeniable asset to the organization's development. The current projects allow us to see an optimistic future for French language health services." Brian Conway, President of RésoSanté C.-B.

The Board of Directors is pleased with this addition to the team as RésoSanté C.-B. confidently moves forward with its goals for the development of French-language health services in British Columbia. The many projects, whether at the provincial level with the development of a bilingual health center, or in the West and North of the country through a project to raise awareness of neurodegenerative diseases including dementia, suggest major advances in the recognition of the need for French health services for Francophones. The organization continues to support the community on a daily basis and is adapting to the current situation with, for example, a Covid-19 vaccine awareness project, "Fais-moi un dessin", supported by the Public Health Agency of Canada (PHAC).

RésoSanté C.-B. is also pleased to be actively working on the implementation of robust policies to fight workplace harassment and racism and aims to be an example to the francophone community in the future.

About RésoSanté C.-B.

RésoSanté C.-B. is the provincial Ministry of Health's main contact for the health of British Columbia's Francophone community. RésoSanté C.-B. supports the development, integrated access and permanence of French-language health services throughout British Columbia. To accomplish this, the organization works closely with its network to connect the various stakeholders involved in healthcare to better serve British Columbia's Francophone community in French.
